Business Continuity Plan – Coronavirus

Dear valued customer,

Mainly China has unfortunately become affected because of the outbreak of the coronavirus. We are certain that you are following the news with high interest as the situation further develops.

We at Covestro are actively responding to the ongoing situation to ensure the safety of our employees and partners as our first priority, as well as to ensure the continuity of our business to minimize any potential disruptions on our valued customers around the world, especially in Asia.

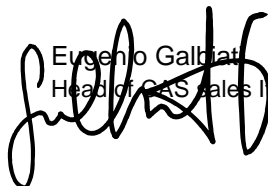

To this end, we have implemented our Business Continuity Plans together with our partners and are in the process of evaluating possible impacts to our supply chain and will make sure to provide you with relevant information if needed.

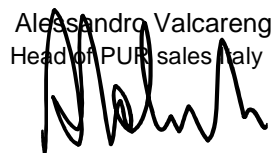

However, our European production facilities are not affected so far and continue to operate as planned.

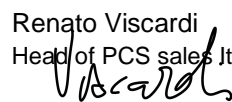

Therefore we don't expect any negative influence on our supply chain performance.

Yours Sincerely

Covestro s.r.l.
